

NATIONAL ART EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

2024 AWARDS PROGRAM

General Information

Awards Eligibility

Members Who Work in One State and Live in Another: NAEA members may be nominated for awards based on the state and region that they hold membership. If a member lives in one state or region but works in another, they may be nominated only according to where they hold membership. All nominations must indicate where the member works.

Members Who Work Across Division Levels, Including K-12 and K-8: A member is eligible only for an award for their respective membership division, as listed in their membership record.

Eligibility of NAEA Leadership: NAEA Board Members, Board Members-Elect, and Regional Division Directors are ineligible for NAEA Awards during their terms.

Eligibility of State Leadership: Members who currently serve as voting members (elected or appointed) of a state association board are ineligible to be nominated for NAEA regional, divisional, or national awards while in office.

Eligibility of Committee Members: Individuals serving on awards committees cannot be considered as candidates for the awards they are reviewing.

Nominating Family Members: Immediate family members (spouses, children, parents, siblings) may not nominate other family members for awards.

NAEA will receive submissions from any member for all awards nominations and validate member status, division, and region for all nominees. NAEA will forward all nominees to the respective award committee chairs for selection of all awardees.

Nomination Letters: Nominators and nominees should be able to craft support letters so that they can be used for both state- and national-level nominations, in order to move state-level honorees forward to national-level award nomination.

Awards Program Rubrics

All Awards program rubrics are posted on the NAEA website.

Rubrics That Will Be Used for Judging All Regional and National Awards: These rubrics will be used for reviewing the nominations submitted for all NAEA awards. A rubric has been created for judging the submissions for most awards. These rubrics will be posted on the website (see link above) so that both the individuals being nominated and those who are nominating others for awards can see them. For regional and national awards, rubrics have been created to recognize the differentiation in roles among divisions, with separate rubrics for Higher Education, Museum, Supervision/Administration, and Preservice and a combined rubric for the Elementary, Middle, and Secondary Divisions.

The deadline for most awards is October 30, 2023.

About the NAEA Awards Program

The first NAEA Award, NAEA Art Educator of the Year, was presented at the 1955 National Convention in Cleveland, Ohio, by Dr. Edwin Ziegfeld, the first president of NAEA. In 1977, the NAEA Awards Program was initiated to recognize outstanding art educators in all NAEA Divisions and Regions and from each state and province. Growing in scope since its inception, the program continues to add new awards.

The objectives of the NAEA Awards Program are to:

- Recognize excellence in the many outstanding individuals, state/province associations, and programs of NAEA;
- Focus professional attention on quality art education and exemplary art educators;
- Increase public awareness of the importance of quality art education;
- Set standards for quality art education and identify how they can be achieved; and
- Provide tangible recognition of achievement, earn respect of colleagues, and enhance professional opportunities for NAEA members.

Descriptions of NAEA Awards

Eisner Lifetime Achievement Award

The Elliot W. Eisner Lifetime Achievement Award recognizes an individual for their lifetime professional achievement that has advanced art and art education.

Nominations should include Individuals who have made notable contributions throughout their lifetimes to the field of visual arts education through their work as teachers, lecturers, and/or artists. The award is not restricted with respect to the level of work or the type of work that individuals may have undertaken throughout their professional lives. Examples include but are not limited to contributing to the knowledge and understanding of artistic growth and development; furthering the theory and practice of teaching and learning about art; promoting the role and essential value of art education for human development; and developing accountability systems for assessing student growth.

The Award

The Eisner Lifetime Achievement Award consists of three parts: (1) a cash award; (2) a reception or other event, during which the award winner shall give an acceptance lecture; and (3) presentation to the award winner of a commemorative item to mark the occasion. There are no required uses for the stipend; it is entirely the choice of the award winner as to how the prize is to be used. Any/all taxes on the award are the responsibility of the winner.

Eligibility, Nomination, and Selection

Eligibility: Any individual whose career has resulted in sustained and significant contributions to the field of art and/or visual arts education through a lifetime of work. Only individuals are eligible rather than an organization, group, or institution. However, the Review Committee, at its discretion, may divide the award between two or more individuals if deemed appropriate to the work. There is no minimum age or years of service in the field to qualify for nomination. The award is open to NAEA members as well as others who may not be professionally recognized as an art educator. No individual may receive the award more than once.

Nomination: Nominations must include (1) a letter of nomination, (2) two letters of support, (3) a vita that highlights significant work, and (4) a recent photograph of the nominee. Letters should (a) describe the significance of the candidate's contributions over the course of their career and (b) describe the quality of the contributions consistent with the purpose of the award. For the online vita form, please put "see attached resume" in each section.

Selection: Selection is made by an Eisner Lifetime Award Selection Committee consisting of a chair and four members (The NAEA past president will chair an awards committee comprising at least one past recipient of the award when possible and three long-standing NAEA members appointed by the chair). Members appointed to serve on the award selection committee are carefully identified to ensure that there is no conflict of interest and that broad representation of members and educational constituencies exists. Agent of Change in Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion Award

The Agent of Change award emerged from a call to action in committing to equity, diversity, inclusion, and social impact by NAEA. As part of the 2021–2025 NAEA Strategic Vision, Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion (ED&I) was recognized as a “super pillar” in the plan; it is both its own unique goal as well as one that is interwoven across the other four pillars: Learning, Research & Knowledge, Advocacy & Policy, and Community Vibrancy. Additionally, the creation of this recognition is part of the recommendations made by the NAEA ED&I Task Force and implemented by the ED&I Commission.

Purpose

The purpose of the award is to honor an individual who exemplifies, demonstrates, and/or leads social impact or social justice efforts in the work they do within visual arts, design, and media arts education. We acknowledge that addressing systemic transformation requires agents of change, allies, and accomplices. The award intends to honor and amplify voices that have and continue to be marginalized and the added intellectual and emotional burden that such art educators face in the work they do in contributing to the advancement of equity, diversity, and/or accessibility in art education.

Key Questions to Consider
