RUBRIC DIRECTIONS: (See sample rubric below.)

1. Read vita form carefully and list each individual achievement under an Achievement Category on the rubric.
2. Place one tally mark in each Achievement Color Zone (orange and yellow) for each achievement listed. For each category there should be the same number of marks in the orange zone as in the yellow zone.
3. Place one tally mark in the purple color zone for each office or chairmanship held.
4. Add tally marks for rows going across and columns going down. To check your math, the green box should contain the same number for "Row Tally" and "Column Tally" totals.
5. Extended values are found by multiplying a "Column Tally Total" with the assigned point value for that column.
6. Add all extended values to receive the Total Score (blue box).
7. Circle all "Tie Breaker Extra Points" which qualify and add to the Total Score. This will result in the Tiebreaker Final Score (yellow highlighted line). If a tie still exists, the Award Selection Committee Chairman will use the higher "Tally Total" in the "After Retirement" column (red box) as the deciding factor.

Rationale for “Achievement Categories”:

Teaching, Professional Leadership and Community Service are the three categories already established for the National Emeritus Art Educator of the Year Award.

Rationale for “Achievement Color Zones” and “Extended Values”:

1. The orange columns give credit for service and achievements before and after retirement, which is part of the criteria for the award. Since this award is for a retired art educator, the “after retirement” column should be worth more in the “Extended Values.”
2. The yellow columns represent the levels of service and achievements. The higher the level; the greater the reach of influence for students and mentoring of other teachers, therefore each level progressed in extended value by one point.
3. The purple column is used to acknowledge (and encourage) those who have put in the extra hours it takes to be a leader in the field. A nominee who has held an office or has been a chairman of a committee should receive more points through the extended value than one who has just been a “member” of a committee.

Rationale for “The Tie Breaker Extra Points”:

In case there is a tie when comparing the “Total Score” results from all of the voting members of the Award Selection Committee, each candidate will receive “extra credit points” for following directions with their submission materials. The extra points, when added to the “Total Score” will give the “Tie Breaker Final Score” (yellow highlighted line). If a tie still exists, the Award Selection Committee Chairman will use the higher “Tally Total” in the “After Retirement” column (red box) as the deciding factor.
